

Science Vol. 330. No 6011, p. 1605, NEWS FOCUS

Knockout rats are among the runners up of Science Magazine's Breakthrough of the Year selection. This acknowledges the recent development in zink finger nuclease, knockout and transposon technologies which could mean that "knockout and genetically modified rats may soon displace their smaller cousins in lab cages around the world".